

Velociti Inc. Names Deryk Powell Chief Operating Officer

COO to Focus on Company Expansion

Kansas City, Kan. – January 25, 2005 – Velociti Inc., mobile installation and deployment specialists, today announced it has promoted Deryk Powell to the position of Chief Operating Officer. Currently Vice President of the company, as COO Powell will be responsible for continuing the growth, diversity and strategic partnerships between Velociti, its vendors and customers within the wide array of emerging technologies.

“When Deryk joined Velociti in the early 90’s he identified the need for a company that was strictly focused on system installations in the rapidly growing transportation technology sector,” stated Michael Kahn, president and ceo of Velociti. “Under his guidance Velociti not only introduced this new concept of mobile technicians to the transportation market, but it expanded it’s reach to include all aspects of technology deployments and service within the transportation, retail and warehousing market segments.” Velociti is currently the only company in the U.S. that cross trains and certifies its employees to do both transportation and wireless technology installations. This uniquely combined skill set gives Velociti the ability to perform multiple scopes of work for a single customer.

Velociti has achieved double-digit sales growth every year since 1995 and now offers service in the U.S., Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico and Western Europe. About Velociti Inc.
